THE EVERYDAY ALL-ROUNDER

An easy place to start. A feel you can grow with.

MADE FOR YOUR GAME

For newer players seeking softer contact and an all-round feel.

- SOFT EVA COMFORT
- ALL-ROUND TEARDROP
- TEXTURED SURFACE

PRODUCT STORY

The RAQ PADEL Fibreglass is made for players finding their rhythm on court. Its fibreglass construction and soft white EVA core are designed for a more cushioned feel at impact. A teardrop profile brings versatility to everyday rallies, while a sand-treated surface adds a textured finish. An approachable choice for first matches, social games and building confidence.

THE NEXT STEP IN FEEL

A firmer response for players finding their style.

MADE FOR YOUR GAME

For developing players who prefer a firmer, more substantial racket.

- FIRM EVA CORE
- TEARDROP PROFILE
- 366 G SPECIFIED WEIGHT

PRODUCT STORY

The RAQ PADEL 3K Carbon is an option for players who prefer a more direct sensation from their racket. It combines 3K carbon-fibre material with a firm black EVA core, a teardrop shape and a textured sand-treated surface. Its specified 366 g weight gives it a more substantial feel than the other rackets in the range. A distinctive choice for players building consistency who actively prefer a firmer core.

MADE FOR YOUR GAME

For players who favour round-head control and a firm response.

- ROUND-HEAD PROFILE
- 12K CARBON FACE & FRAME
- GLOSS FINISH

PRODUCT STORY

Designed around controlled placement, the RAQ PADEL 12K Carbon combines a round shape with a firm black EVA core and a glossy surface finish. Its carbon-fibre face and frame provide a distinctive construction within the collection, while the specified 350 g weight keeps the racket within a familiar adult weight category. For players who value a round-head profile and a direct, precise contact sensation.

FIND YOUR FEEL.

THE ULTIMATE GUIDE TO CHOOSING YOUR PADEL RACKET

Understand the shape, match the feel and choose with confidence.

01

START WITH YOUR GAME

YOUR PLAYING LEVEL

A new player benefits from an easy-to-move, forgiving racket. More experienced players may prefer a firmer face or a demanding attacking shape. Choose what suits your current game, not the level printed on the label.

CONTROL OR ATTACK?

Control: prioritise placement, recovery and reliable volleys. Attack: look for a response that supports confident overheads. All-round: aim for a comfortable middle ground.

PICK YOUR SHAPE

Round usually gives a more central, forgiving hitting area. Teardrop blends attacking and defensive potential. Diamond generally rewards precise timing and a confident strike.

BEFORE YOU BUY

Think about how often you play, whether you tire during long rallies, and which shots you want to improve. If possible, try more than one racket.

02

SHAPE & BALANCE

THE SWEET SPOT

This is the part of the face where contact feels most efficient. A generous central sweet spot is helpful when learning; a smaller, higher one can be less forgiving.

WHERE THE WEIGHT SITS

Head-light: quick to reposition at the net. Even balance: an adaptable mix of speed and stability. Head-heavy: can add momentum on overheads but may feel slower in defence.

SHAPE IS NOT BALANCE

Two rackets of the same outline can swing differently. Weight distribution must be assessed separately from the silhouette.

RAQ SHAPE OPTIONS

12K Carbon: round profile. Fibreglass and 3K: teardrop profiles. 18K: attack-focused diamond profile.

03

WEIGHT, FACE & CORE

START WITH WEIGHT

Lighter rackets tend to turn and react faster; added mass can improve stability but demands more from the arm. The RAQ range is specified at 350 g (12K/18K), 355 g (Fibreglass) and 366 g (3K).

SOFTER OR FIRMER?

Fibreglass + soft EVA is the more cushioned RAQ option. Carbon + hard EVA creates a firmer, more direct contact sensation. Comfort depends on the complete racket and your technique.

CARBON EXPLAINED

3K, 12K and 18K describe carbon-fibre tow sizes, not an automatic quality ranking. Shape, balance, lay-up and core firmness matter more than the number alone.

SURFACE FINISH

A textured face can support spin techniques; a smooth glossy face offers a different feel. Technique remains the biggest influence on spin and control.

04

USE, COMFORT & CARE

FIND A SECURE GRIP

Hold the racket firmly enough to control it, without squeezing constantly. Add an overgrip when the handle feels too thin or slippery. Wear the wrist safety cord while playing.

ON-COURT BASICS

Prepare early, keep volley swings compact and aim for a controlled contact point. Use the whole body on attacking shots rather than forcing them with the wrist alone.

TEST THE FEEL

Practise a defensive block, a volley, a lob and an overhead. The right racket should remain manageable through all four, not just feel powerful on one clean smash.

KEEP IT MATCH-READY

Wipe the racket dry, replace worn grips, use a protective cover, and avoid prolonged heat or moisture. Look over the face and frame after hard impacts.
